“ I never met you in person. Only knew you on FB, but I could see what a wonderful person you were. Always in good spirits even though you were fighting the toughest battle of your life. I was so sorry to hear from your sisters that you had lost that battle. My deepest sympathies to all of your family. For all the sadness left behind, we know there's also a celebration as you reunite with all those in heaven.

“ My aunt Arlene was larger than life. That's the only words that come to mind when i think of her. As i dig deeper i can find stories, feelings, and other words for her. For all the years i have known her, she brought light with her. In the tough times and the times that were dull she was the light we needed. I remember looking in her eyes and seeing a spark i didn't know what it was until now... it was her spirit, it was her light, it was her heart. Some say she was too caring, but honestly i think it was her look on life. Everyday was like a gift to her and every moment among family, friends, and loves ones was the best moments of her life. To her life was full of positive things and i think that's how she was such a great person and why she had a great life. I will cherish every moment we ever got to spend together, and i will hold them so dearly. you were the greatest aunt and i'm so thankful i got to be apart of your life. I will miss her forever. I will love her til time itself dies. I will have her in my heart, my mind, and my memories til there is nothing left and then some.
I love and miss you so much already,

“ Cousin - Remembering the things we did together as kids, puts a smile on my face and happiness in my heart
As we grow up, even if we don't see each other or speak often, those memories always have kept us in touch.

We always laughed so hard together. even over the
the littlest things.

You will always be in my heart, until we laugh and see one another again in heaven.

My deepest and sincere condolences to the family

Jeannie Erffmeyer - July 22, 2020 at 11:39 AM

“ One night I seen a snowflake fall
I was flushed with anger as I recall
I wasn't ready for the the cold or snow
The flowers had just started to bloom and grow
I sat at my window and wondered how I could stop time
Spend a few more nice days and take back what was mine
The longer I was there the more it became clear
Things I once found important were not why I was here
The seasons will always change and the snow will fade away
But family is once in this lifetime, the sunshine seen through the ray
With you in the heavens you'll never be alone
You can come in any season be the spirit in our home
Like red on a rose and blue in the sky
You will forever be my angel forever fly high

I love you Aunt Arlene and will always hold that special place in my heart for you.
